The annual Better Health Conference, hosted by the Connecticut Partners for Health (founded by Qualidigm in 2011), is an educational forum which draws approximately 500 healthcare consumers and clinicians. This patient engagement conference provides insights and resources from local, national and international experts on why everyone should be active consumers of healthcare and how they can take a more active role in their own health and healthcare.

At these conferences, healthcare experts and consumers share their experiences, best practices and innovations to improve patient satisfaction and outcomes. Informational breakout sessions cover a variety of topics including: medication management, health literacy, effective patient-provider communication, advance care planning, the role of the nurse in patient engagement, choosing healthcare apps and removing obstacles to being healthy, and many more. All sessions contribute to defining the overarching goals of the e-patient movement: improving care quality, outcomes and cost-effectiveness.

“The Better Health Conference is a unique, eclectic gathering of visionaries and world-changers, but it has the feel of a New England Town Hall meeting. It’s simply a great place to meet and interact with leaders and innovators who are doing cutting edge work to improve medical quality, deploy new systems and technology, and engage and empower patients.”

– 2015 Keynote Speaker, Chuck Bell - Program Director, Consumers Union, Consumer Reports

“Never in all my travels have I seen such an inspiring and educational consumer-focused event. It felt like the vision of patient-centered care coming alive before my eyes.”

– 2013 Keynote Speaker “e-Patient Dave” deBronkart, International Patient Engagement Spokesman
